1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by applicant's Prior Art (Fig. 3).

Regarding claim 1, the prior art discloses an animated flute comprising an air bag (B) formed in an animated shape and being secured to one of said flute (A) through an air passage, said air passage having a curved shape (Fig. 3 shows a curved up shape), and said air bag including at least one air outlet (B1).

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the prior art in view of Starnes (6,017,262).

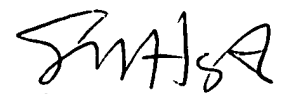

Regarding claim 4, the prior art discloses the claimed invention except that said air bag and said air passage being in different directions.

Starnes teaches an animated toy comprising an air bag passage (55) being in different directions (Fig. 5 shows air goes out at the air outlet 61 in different directions). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to modify the prior art's animated flute as taught by Starnes to include said air bag and said air passage being in different directions for the purpose of simulating an animal's tongue (col. 1, line 11).

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 4 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Shih-yung Hsieh whose telephone number is 571-272-2065. The examiner can normally be reached on 7:00-3:30.
